MEAT MARKETS TO CLOSE ONLY AS LAST RESORT

Dealers Ask Customers to Help Fight OPA, Avoid Supply Shut-Off.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new drive to free meats from price controls got under way today as the national beef industry committee met behind closed doors with OPA officials.

Mansfield area meat dealers have agreed to close up shop "only as a last resort" in their fight to oust OPA and start meat flowing to counters again, a Mansfield meat dealer revealed today.

He said that a majority of the meat and grocery dealers who met last night to decide on a plan of action agreed to "try everything else" except closing shop.

"A shut-down would be hardest on our customers, the backbone of our business," he said, "so we want to avoid that if we can."

Postal cards, addressed to OPA, are to be made available to customers at city and area meat markets, the meat dealer said.

Ask Patrons' Help.

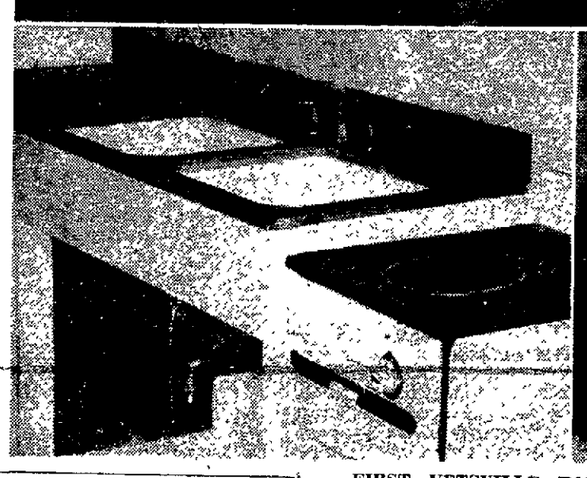
The cards can be used, he said, to express directly to OPA "what they think of the meat situation" and of OPA.

David Sternbaum, Mansfield meat and grocery dealer, chairman of an unofficial group of dealers mapping plans of action concerning the meat shortage, said that a "majority" of area meat and grocery merchants attended the meeting in municipal court rooms last night.

Sternbaum said that the group agreed to sponsor a full page "message to the people" in Sunday's News-Journal.

He refused to say what the "message" would contain but did reveal that it would "deal with action we have proposed to take about the meat shortage and the strangulation regulations of OPA as far as meat is concerned."

Sternbaum said a committee will meet tonight at the Independent Grocers' Institute, Richland Trust building, to map plans for the "action" to be announced in the full-page advertisement.



FIRST VETSVILLE FAMILY — Charles Cabral and family were the happiest folks in the Mansfield area today when they became the first of 75 veterans and their families to move into the American Legion-FPHA sponsored housing project on U. S. Route 30, near Mifflin. Top left, Mrs. Cabral takes time out to entertain her two children, Samuel, 3, at right, and Sandra Ann, 2. Top right shows Cabral, left, unloading some of their furnishings from a truck, loaned to him today by a GI buddy, as his family looks on. Lower left is the sink and stove in their kitchen. Lower right is Charles B. Lawrence, jr., regional director for FPHA, signing over title to the Cabral apartment to James L. Zimmerman, McVey post, American Legion, representative.

Soviet Leader Urges America To Quit China

Declares 'Monopolistic Possession' of A-Bomb Cannot Continue Long; Calls for Democratization Of Germany.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Prime Minister Stalin reiterated today his belief that the world is in no "real danger" of a new war, declared that "monopolist possession" of the atomic bomb could not long continue, and urged the United States to get out of China as one step toward lasting peace.

Responding to nine questions submitted to him by Alexander Werth, Moscow correspondent of the London Sunday Times, Stalin said he did not believe that Great Britain and the United States could create a capitalist encirclement of Russia, "even if they so desired," and called for the "demilitarization and democratization" of Germany as another step toward "stable and lasting peace."

"One should strictly differentiate between the hue and cry about a 'new war' which is taking place now and the real danger of a 'new war,' which does not exist at present," the Russian leader was quoted as saying by the Moscow radio, which broadcast the complete text of the questions and answers early this morning.

* * *

Stronger View.

This view was similar to—and perhaps even stronger than—one Stalin expressed on March 22, when, in response to questions submitted by Eddy Gilmore of the Associated Press, he said he was "convinced that neither the nations nor their armies are seeking another war" and urged a campaign of "counter-propaganda to expose the warmongers."

In today's responses, as translated by the Soviet Monitor in London, Stalin blamed the talk of a new war on "military-political intelligence agents" who "need this clamor" to (a) Help their government wrest mor concessions, (b) Make it difficult to cut the military budgets of their countries, and (c) "To put a brake on demobilization of troops and thereby evade the quick growth of unemployment in their countries."

He denied that Russia had any intention of using the Soviet zone of Germany against the western nations and expressed belief that peaceful cooperation between the U.S.S.R. and the democracies of the west "far from decreasing, may even grow."

Intended for Weak Nerves.

Replying to Werth's question: "Do you believe that virtual monopoly by the U.S.A. of the atomic bomb constitute one of the main threats to peace?" Stalin replied:

"I do not believe the atomic bomb to be as serious a force as certain politicians are inclined to regard it.

"Atomic bombs are intended for intimidating weak nerves, but they cannot decide the outcome of war since atomic bombs are by no means sufficient for this pur-

KAISER WANTS 'MANY WEEKS'

Clashes Mark His Appearance Before House Committee.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— West coast Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser told a house committee today that "it will take many weeks" to determine how much his shipbuilding companies had invested in plant facilities.

Kaiser told the house merchant marine committee, which is investigating profits of operators of government-owned shipyards, that he has put his west coast staff to work on the question submitted by Committee Counsel Marvin Coles. He said:

"It will take many weeks to get the information. I will furnish it to the committee."

The opening of today's hearing was marked by angry clashes. At one point Rep. Bland (D., Va.) chairman, hammered with his gavel and abruptly ordered Kaiser, who had leaped to his feet, to "be seated please.",

The committee chairman refused to allow Kaiser to put in the record a prepared statement that the witness said answered questions asked by Coles yesterday.

A suggestion by Rep Weichel (R-Ohio) that the committee is seeking to shield the wartime financial operations of the maritime commission brought a heated denial from Chairman Bland (D-Va).

Interrupting the questioning of Kaiser, Bland declared:

"There is no desire to shield anybody but to bring out the facts fully. There is no intention to exonerate or excuse anyone or to crucify anyone."

SETS GARBAGE CHARGE AT $8

Revised Ordinance Would Fix Ash Fee at $6.

A decision to boost Mansfield's yearly garbage collection fee to $8 and to set a minimum ash collection fee of $6 has been tentatively reached by city officials and councilmen.

This was revealed today by a councilman who refused to be quoted directly. He said a revised ordinance being studied by officials and councilmen also provides for payment of both fees six months in advance and extends ash service only to garbage subscribers.

The measure, however, will be re-submitted to council's sewer-garbage committee for approval before it is submitted to council Oct. 1, he said.

At present, the city's garbage fee is $7.20 a year with no charge for ash collection service. Councilmen are proposing a rate boost to take the refuse department out of the red

The ordinance in its currently revised form also requires customers to put ashes in suitable containers but doesn't require ashes to be set outside homes, the councilman said.

STILL AT WORK

Grand Jury Expected to Get Murder Cases Tomorrow.

Although Richland county's grand jurors yesterday completed investigation of 15 of 27 charges of law violation, another two days will probably be needed for the 12 remaining cases, Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said today.

The jury resumed its deliberations shortly after 9:30 a. m. today. Tomorrow it will weigh two charges of first degree murder.

Accused of murder are Howard Nichols, 20, and Lewis Murton, 19, inmates of the Ohio State reformatory who are said to have stabbed to death Janvere Bruck, 18, a fellow prisoner last July. Several other OSR inmates will testify as witnesses in the case.

CAR OUTPUT DOWN

TOLEDO—(INS)—President and Board Chairman James D. Mooney, of Willys-Overland Inc., reported today that production of 45,000 units by the firm in the nine months ended June 30 amounted to less than half the anticipated volume. Sales for the period amounted to $34,933,633, Mooney said, resulting in a $415,720 loss.

Doctors Fear 6th Birthday Last for Boy

MASSILLON —(AP)— Larry Lee Koehler will celebrate his sixth birthday tomorrow and physicians say it may be his last.

The boy is suffering from a rare skin disease known to the medical profession as xera derma pegmentosun.

The skin cells are closed and the small blood vessels do not function. Light and sun turn the skin dark and rough and small tumors form which grow very large and hemorrhage. The growths have distorted his face beyond recognition.

More than 100 physicians have examined him.

"They tell us there is no cure for the disease," says his mother, Mrs. Maurice Koehler, "so we are turning to the newspapers as a last resort, hoping that somewhere, someone may know of something we can do."

The Koehler's three other children, all girls, are in good health

Balustrade Falls; 3 Persons Injured

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Three persons were hospitalized with injuries early today and several others were jostled as a marble balustrade in Public Hall collapsed under the force of several hundred persons pushing to leave after a dance.

The accident occurred on the main floor at a stairway leading to the lowe rexhibition hall. Paul J. Hurd, hall manager, said a six-foot section of balustrade gave way as dancers crowded the lobby and lined up at checkrooms.

Persons against the railing fell about 10 feet as it collapsed.

HIKE RICE PRICE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The price of rice is going up one to two cents a pound at grocery stores, OPA said today in announcing that it had lifted millers' ceilings. The increase, OPA officials told a reporter, will add from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 to the nation's annual food bill.

'Happiest Day of My Life,' Says Wife of First Vetsville Tenant

By GEORGE SATTLER

It was moving day at Vetsville today—and for Vet Charles Cabral and his family it was the happiest moment of their lives.

"I'm just thrilled to pieces!" Mrs. Cabral exclaimed, as only a thoroughly delightful woman can. "I'm sure I didn't sleep a wink last night."

The Cabrals are the first of 75 veterans and their families who will occupy the American Legion-FPHA sponsored Vetsville housing project on U. S. Route 30 near Mifflin.

"This is the first real home we've ever had," Mrs. Cabral laughed as she bustled about her new four-room home. "You'll have to excuse me if I act just a little bit excited."

"Everything has surely been breaking right for the Cabral family lately," she went on. "But this tops them all."

Mrs. Cabral didn't hesitate to enumerate her good luck. Her husband came home from overseas safe and sound; her two children—Samuel, 3, and Sandra Ann, 2,—are happy, contented children; her husband has a job he likes; and, most of

IT WON'T LAST

Summery Weather Facing Quick 'Wash-Out.'

Enjoy today's summerish weather while you may, the weatherman warned, because scattered showers are to hit the Mansfield area tomorrow and remain most of the week. Temperatures are to be lower than normal until Friday, too, he said.

Today's sunshine followed the heaviest rain of the entire month yesterday. Precipitation was .62 inch.

OPEN BORDER

Peace Conference Votes to Defortify Frontier.

PARIS—(AP)—The peace conference military commission voted today to defortify the southeastern border of Slav Europe, adopting a Greek amendment to the Bulgarian treaty which would shear Bulgaria of frontier fortifications.

The vote was 11 to 7, with three abstentions.

The proposition is to demilitarize Bulgaria's 180-mile frontier with Greece "to the same extent" as Italy's frontier with Yugoslavia. Only Brazil and the Slav delegates opposed the move.

ROBBED OF $7,300

KENT—(AP)—Three men robbed Max Friedman, a jeweler, of $6,000 in diamonds and $1,300 in cash while he was en route from Akron to his home in Pittsburgh, he told police.

POWER STRIKE CRIPPLES CITY

Pittsburgh Industrial Plants Paralyzed By Walkout.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The third power strike in seven months hit the steel metropolis today, curtailing steel operations and street car transportation in an area of 1,500,000 inhabitants.

As the walkout of Duquesne Light company employes got under way, the Pittsburgh Railways company announced a 50 per cent cut in trolley operations.

The light company announced its industrial consumers were "practically shut down."

A spokesman said "several hundred" of its 3,500 employes walked out but that the company "still has a limited amount of power." He added that the power output would be curtailed unless homeowners, stores, office buildings, etc., "continue to conserve electricity."

Industry Crippled.

The power strike began to cripple business and industrial activities within a few minutes. Thousands of downtown workers were sent home from work. Several large plants closed down entirely. So did department stores

BIG SHIP BREAKS

Constellation's Landing Gear Collapses at Airport.

RINEANNA, Eire —(AP)— The landing gear of a Pan-American Constellation plane collapsed a few moments after the ship touched down at Shannon airport today and the craft broke in two. Twenty-six passengers suffered from shock, but none was reported injured.

The plane was en route from New York to Lisbon on its first Atlantic crossing since the recent grounding of all the big Constellations.

The ship made a perfect landing on the runway and was beginning to turn into the taxi strip when the accident occurred.

Airport personnel quickly extricated the passengers

U. S. Plans Lots More Squealing

WASHINGTON —(AP)— It can't find you any pork chops for dinner tonight, but the agriculture department is talking about higher hog quotas for 1947.

The quotas favored right now, one production and marketing expert told a reporter today, would call for 58,000,000 little pigs in next spring's farrowing — an increase of 11 percent over this year. This would be followed up by 82,000,000 more next fall, a 10 per cent boost.

The current plan also calls for a hike in the support price. It would be set at $14.25 per hundred for the whole year, compared with $12.50 now.

Pupils 'Strike' In Price Protest

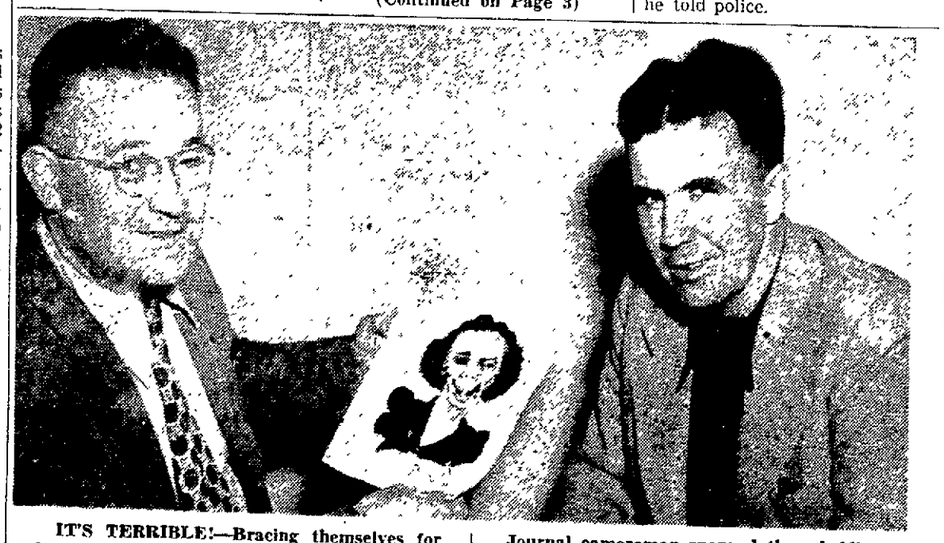
AKRON— (INS) —Approximately 100 pupils of Central high school refused to attend classes today in protest of food price increases in their cafeteria. More than 350 pupils signed a petition to Mayor Charles E. Slusser protesting the advance. The truant pupils, mostly boys, declared they would not return to school until an adjustment was made on the prices. They charged that the increases were too sharp and the food portions too small.

ELECT CITY MANAGER

HAMILTON —(INS)— Frank R. Buechner, for six years city manager of Superior, Wis., became city manager today. He was elected by city council to the $10,000-a-year job to succeed C. N. Teaff, who was removed from office last week after holding the post for five weeks.

CLASH IN GREECE

ATHENS —(U.P.)— Government troops clashed with leftist units at Deskati in the first major battle between Greek forces, government sources said today.



IT'S TERRIBLE!—Bracing themselves for the ordeal—ugh! (sob)—Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Mansfield high school Football Coach Paul H. Snyder, two of the three judges in the "Lena the Hyena" contest, screwed up their courage this morning and took a look at a few of the entries. After Bates, left, and Snyder got themselves under control, a News-Journal cameraman snapped them holding one of the entries. During the past two days the News-Journal editorial office has been flooded with entries. All entries for the best "Lena the Hyena" must be in the N-J office by 6 p. m. Thursday. The News-Journal will give $10 for the best and will enter it in the national contest to compete for a $500 prize.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

PETER GOES LOOKING

Rumor has a way of growing,
Where 'twill end there is no knowing.
—Old Mother Nature.

A rumor had reached the dear Old Briar-patch. It was a queer rumor. Peter Rabbit was finding it hard to believe. Rumors often are hard to believe. It was always best not to believe a rumor until it has been proved founded on truth. The trouble with rumor is that it has a way of growing as it spreads. The farther it spreads the more it grows. The queer rumor that had reached Peter's long ears was that Longlegs the Great Blue Heron, or his cousin, Quawk the Night Heron, nobody seemed sure which, had changed his coat for a white one and had done it over night.

"Of course it isn't so," said little Mrs. Peter.

"Of course," said Peter. "No bird can change his coat over night any more than you or I can. A change of coat takes time. Still I think I'll run over to the Big River and look for one of those long-legged cousins. I might find out how such a story started."

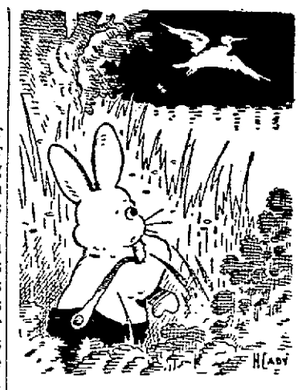
"And you might get into a lot of trouble. You stay right here in the dear Old Briar-patch and let some one else do the looking," insisted Mrs. Peter.

Peter sighed. "Of course you are right, my dear," said he, and settled himself in his favorite form where he usually spends the day. You know he prefers to do his dozing in the daytime and roam about at night. But as soon as Mrs. Peter's back was turned Peter slipped out of the dear Old Briar-patch, sat up for a hasty look to make sure that no hungry hunter was in sight, and started for the Big River lipperty, lipperty, lip. He knows the favorite fishing places of Longlegs the Heron along the edge of the Big River and he went straight to the nearest of these.

Longlegs wasn't there. Cautiously, never forgetting to look and listen, Peter moved along the bank, keeping among bushes or in tall grass or under any other cover that he could find. As he moved along he kept peeking out, watching the edge of the water. He had just about made up his mind that Longlegs wasn't fishing along that part of the Big River when he saw the tall bird standing a little way out in the water not far ahead. Peter felt a sense of disappointment. Longlegs wasn't wearing a white coat. He looked exactly as he always had looked.

"It must be Quawk who has the white coat. Anyway, Longlegs will know. I'll ask him," thought Peter.

But just as Peter was almost opposite Longlegs the feathered



He flew away without so much as a glance at Peter.

fisherman spread a pair of great wings that lifted him into the air, and, with his long legs straight out behind and his long neck folded back on his shoulders, he flew away without so much as a glance at Peter.

For a little while Peter sat in a clump of bushes where he was well hidden. He was trying to make up his mind whether to go back home like a sensible Rabbit, or to go over to the Smiling Pool.

"Perhaps I will find Quawk over there. He spends a lot of time there. Of course I have found out what I wanted to know, so I don't have to see him. It wasn't Longlegs who changed his coat for a white one, so it must have been Quawk. He wears a lot of white anyway, but I would like to see him all white," thought Peter.

Presently he started for the Smiling Pool. As usual Grandfather Frog was sitting on his favorite big green lily pad.

"Chuga-rum! What brings you over here at this time of day, Longears?" asked Grandfather Frog as Peter appeared on the bank.

Grandfather Frog rolled his goggly eyes at Peter. "Chuga-rum," said he. "Chuga-rum. I would like to see him all in white myelf," said he.

Just then Quawk stepped out of the rushes back of Grandfather Frog. He was dressed just as usual. "Chuga-rum!" croaked Grandfather Frog, and made a beautiful dive into deep water.

The next story: "At Long Last."

MR. AND MRS. GODFRIED STAR, 297 Superior street, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Eleanor, to John G. Arron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Arron, 429 Orange street.

The double ring ceremony will take place at 2:30 p. m. on Saturday, Oct. 19, at the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. D. N. Roller officiating. Open church will be observed.

Miss Star, a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, is employed in the main office of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Mr. Arron also graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, was in the service four and one-half years, of which 42 months were spent in the CBI theater. He is now employed at the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Dorothy Hallabrin Is Bride Of W. R. Kick Saturday

WHEN Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Hallabrin became the bride of William Raymond Kick Saturday evening, she wore a princess wedding gown of ice blue parachute nylon. Her finger-tip, lace trimmed veil was held in place with a juliet cap and coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of gladioli and roses.

Rev. James E. Davey officiated at the ceremony in the Grace Gospel church uniting the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Hallabrin, 127 Gibson avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Kick, 569 Wayne street. Miss Marie Mitchell played the nuptial music and William G. Hallabrin, brother of the bride, was soloist.

Joseph Hallabrin gave his sister in marriage.

As her cousin's maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Martha Wentz wore a peach chiffon gown and carried peach gladioli.

Mrs. Hallabrin chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of dark green with brown accessories and Mrs. Kick wore a dusty rose dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of yellow roses.

A Tough Line
Active youngsters need extra nourishment, extra energy on brisk fall days. You can depend on Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk to give your youngsters an abundant supply of essential minerals and vitamins.
Important to them, too, is the richer, creamier taste of Homogenized Milk. Children really go for its delicious, creamy flavor. And because the cream particles are evenly distributed through the milk, the last glassful is just as rich and tasty as the first. With Homogenized Milk, no cream is lost by sticking to the side of the bottle or cap, and it won't form a "skin" at the surface when heated. Homogenized Milk digests quicker and easier, too.
Every quart of Isaly's contains 400 Vitamin D units, the amount nutrition experts say all growing children need daily to help build strong bones and sound teeth. Try Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk today—just telephone 4217-6 for prompt home delivery service.
For your added health protection, every quart of Isaly's milk has double sanitary sealing. First, a tight but easily removed cap in the top of the bottle which may be used as a cover when the bottle is not in use, and second, a fresh, cellophane hood which fits snugly down over the top of the bottle and keeps the pouring rim healthfully clean. Look for the crisp, golden cellophane hood on Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D milk.

TIME RUNNING OUT FOR DODGERS

Brooklyn, Cards Both Triumph

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—Deep in the heat of Flatbush today the die-hard Dodgers stuck to their guns, fully aware that they must be .400 per centage points better than the St. Louis Cardinals in their remaining games to win the National league pennant.

As things stand now, the only way Brooklyn can capture the pennant without a play off is to win all four of its remaining games, playing at a 1.000 pace while the Cardinals are winning three of their five for a .600 pace.

If the Cardinals win four games they can clinch a tie and a sweep of their five games will put them in regardless of what the Dodgers do.

But there are no faint hearts among the "embattled Bums," who are convinced that they are a team of destiny and do a good job of proving it every time they take the field.

The Dodgers were tired and jittery when they took the field against the fighting Phillies yesterday and for seven and a half innings they had a hard time holding their own in a tense pitching battle between Rube Melton and Lefty Ken Raffensberger.

Then the scoreboard flashed the 1 to 0 St. Louis victory over the Cubs at Chicago and the Dodgers forgot they were weary. Knowing that they had to win to stay alive in the race, they put on a five-run rally with a weird and daring collection of bunts and cheap hits for a 6 to 1 victory.

Brooklyn is counting either upon Hal Gregg or Ralph Branca to top the Phils in today's game and the job may be a tough one. Philadelphia Manager Ben Chapman is going to use another lefty, Oscar Judd, who has scored two of the four victories that the Phils possess over Brooklyn.

In the only other major league game yesterday, the Yankees topped the Athletics at New York, 9 to 6.. Yank rookie Larry Berra hit his second homer in as many days.

Observe Prayer . . .

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Rev. Benney J. C. Benson proposes that the people of Brooklyn observe a minute of prayer at noon each day this week in an effort to help the Dodgers win the National league pennant.

"We've prayed for military victories and everything else so why not pray for the Dodgers," said Rev. Benson, who is minister of Greenpoint Reformed church and Protestant chaplain of the Kings county American Legion.

Pass Defense Drills In Store For Ram Gridders This Week

Pass defense—and more pass defense—is in store for the Mansfield Madison pigskin performers as they prepare for their inaugural 1946 Northern Buckeye league game against the powerful, aerial-minded Orrville eleven at Orrville Friday night.

While the Rams were losing 13 to 12 last week to Oberlin, Orrville massacred Rittman 40 to 0 in a league game. Oberlin's pair of touchdowns came on 18 and 37 yard passes while Bill Codiano, Rider passing expert, completed 10 heaves for three six-pointers and two extra points.

The Riders' aerial authority threw an 80-yard TD pass as Orrville edged Akron Coventry, 13 to 12, in the first game of the season.

Madison's line could not be penetrated last Friday on running plays and Coach Jeff DeHaven said that after two long drills on pass defense this week the Rams should give the Riders a hard way to go.

If the Rams can correct their pass defense they should rate high in league competition.

Orrville has a consistent ground-gainer in Bill Wilford, right halfback, who made several long runs against Rittman. Wilford scored three TD's for the Riders, one on a 48-yard dash.

DeHaven's charges will be outweighed again this week.

Ed Thomas, Ram end, received a slight leg injury last week, but will be in the starting line-up Friday.

In rounding out this week's practice sessions DeHaven will work on the timing of plays and over-all defensive maneuvers.

Orrville defeated Madison for the league championship last year at Stadium field, 20 to 0, in a post-season game.

Leg Bruises Hospitalizes Army's Doc Blanchard

WEST POINT, N. Y. —(INS)— Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's All-American back, was listed today as a doubtful starter against the Oklahoma university eleven on Saturday.

Blanchard, in the opener against Villanova, suffered a painful leg bruise that necessitates hospitalization.

Resume Ohio State Playoffs

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— Rained out last night, Springfield's Giants expected to resume their Ohio State league playoff with the Zanesville Dodgers here tonight. Zanesville leads, three to two, in the best-four-out-of-seven series.

Tygers After Revenge Against Streaks Friday

By FRED THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor.

Mansfield Tyger footballers have a slight matter of revenge in their minds for Friday night when the Sandusky Blue Streaks invade Stadium field.

Paul Snyder's gang would like nothing better than to instill those Friday night blues into the Streaks and from all indications that is what will happen.

The Bengal horde has won two straight 1946 decisions and is rated tenth in the state while Sandusky has absorbed a pair of decisive beatings. Cleveland Collinwood tagged the Streaks, 42 to 0, in the seasonal opener and Elyria rolled up a 39 to 0 margin last week.

The situation was much the same in 1945 when the Tygers had won two straight, Marion Harding and Cleveland East (same as this year), and were rated ninth in Ohio. Sandusky had won one and lost one.

However, the Blue Streaks apparently hadn't read the Mansfield eleven's press notices and stopped the Tygers in their tracks, 15 to 6. Sandusky went on to conclude the '45 campaign without a defeat.

Coach John Weis has only four lettermen left from his 1945 squad while Snyder has 22 monogram winners who are still smarting from the sting of that nine-point defeat. All of the Bengal letter-winners except Bob Marth, Dave Wentz and Joe Miller saw action against the Streaks in '45.

Sandusky exhibited a weak pass defense in the Elyria contest and Snyder is sharpening his aerial attack to take advantage of that deficiency. Ollie Cline showed marvelous accuracy in tossing four straight completions against Cleveland East last week but the veteran halfback suffered an injury to his throwing arm and may not be in top passing form Friday.

Snyder has Ralph Majors and Kenny Horvath tossing the pigskin in drills this week.

In addition to working on his passing attack, Snyder is giving the entire Tyger offensive an over-hauling this week. The Bengals out-gained East last Friday in net yardage but the Mansfield single-wing offense needs a little polish. Most of the Tyger 1946 TD's have been made on quick-openers from the T.

Last Friday's savage battle between Mansfield and East left many of the Tygers bruised and sore. However, Cline and Ross Frisbee, who has an "ouchy" shoulder, received the hardest knocks but both will be ready to resume their spots in the starting backfield against the Blue Streaks.

Fred Staub, assistant coach, gave the Bengals a scouting report of Sandusky at this afternoon's workout.

Directors of the Tyger club, Mansfield Senior high school booster organization, meet tonight at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Dickey and Ruffing Dropped by Yanks

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Bill Dickey and Charley Ruffing, heroes with the Yankees in the happier years when New York was the scourage of the major leagues, were out of baseball today.

Both were released unconditionally by the Yankees yesterday.

Dickey, former star catcher who had replaced Joe McCarthy as Yankee manager last May 24, has not been with the club since last week when he was dropped as pilot.

Ruffing has been out of action this season since June 29 when he was struck in the knee by a line drive off the bat of Hank Majeski of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Game Injuries Cause Death Of High School Halfback

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Injuries received in a football game caused the death yesterday of Robert Hannum, 16-year-old Franklin high school halfback, Christ hospital attaches reported today.

Young Hannum, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Hannum, was hurt in the Franklin-Miamisburg game last Friday night.

Demchuk Defends Mat Championship

Johnny Demchuk defends his junior heavyweight title against Angelo Martinelli Thursday night in the weekly grunt and groan show at the Armory.

Martinelli defeated Jack Vansky last week and should give Demchuk plenty of trouble in the best two-out-of-three falls match with a 90-minute time limit.

Promoter Earl Myers has billed Sonny Myers against Wild Bill Zimovich in the one-hour semi-final match at 8:15. Myers is known for his rolling toe hold.

Cathedral Latin First In Scholastic Poll; Mansfield Eleven Listed In Tenth Position

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(INS Sports Writer)

COLUMBUS—It was Cleveland Cathedral Latin and Toledo Waite running one-two all the way in the first of this year's International News Service weekly polls to select the state's outstanding scholastic football teams.

So impressed were participating sports editors from every section of the state with the roaring start of Latin and Waite—1945 grid Goliaths resuming where they left off a year ago—that the two clubs far outdistanced the remainder of the field.

Top billing by a small margin went to Latin—unbeaten in its last 27 starts and winner over Massillon last week 14 to 7.

OHIO'S TEN BEST
1. Cleveland Cathedral Latin.
2. Toledo Waite.
3. Portsmouth.
4. Canton McKinley.
5. Newark.
6. Dayton Chaminade.
7. Lima Central.
8. Alliance.
9. Massillon.
10. Mansfield.

Close behind was Waite, whose two runaway victories to date have been scored at the expense of Elkhart, Ind., and Toledo Central by scores of 56-0 and 37-7, respectively.

Augie Morningstar's Portsmouth team was a clear-cut third although the river team has yet to play an Ohio opponent. West Virginia elevens have been easy picking for Portsmouth, first Ceredo-Kenova fell, 40-6, then Charleston was drubbed, 41-13.

A strong comeback last week coupled with a conviction that its opening defeat was not a true criterion of McKinley strength gained the once-beaten Canton powerhouse fourth place. McKinley was impressive in a 40 to 0 romp over its city rival, Timken.

Newark and Dayton Chaminade, both unbeaten in 1945 and back on the warpath, claimed fifth and sixth positions. The Wildcats needed a last 55-second pass interception by Fullback Kenny King to defeat Columbus North, 19 to 14.

Chaminade trampled Dayton Roosevelt, 34 to 0, Saturday for its second straight win.

Rounding out the first ten teams were Lima Central, Alliance and Mansfield, all double winners, and Massillon, in spite of a defeat in its only game to date.

Among other teams mentioned most frequently by the scribes were: Canton Lincoln, Campbell, Barberton, Youngstown Wilson, Lima South, Middletown, Martins Ferry, Austintown Fitch and Lorain. Every one of those schools showed unblemished records in their records in their first two weeks.

New Water Test Well Comes in Saturday.

NEW LONDON — The new eight-inch test well started last week for the village came in Saturday at an approximate depth of 116 feet, drilling officials said late yesterday.

Arrangements have been started, screens ordered and pumping operations begun to determine the quality of the water. If the new water supply proves satisfactory, immediate steps will be taken to start on additional ten-inch wells in the area.

In addition to giving New London a needed water supply, the wells are expected to furnish water for the proposed 30-acre conservation lake.

Ex-Galionite Is Given Screen Test

GALION—Galion friends learned recently that Miss Phyllis Cobey, a former resident, has been given a screen test by Orson Wells, actor and director. The test resulted in several attractive offers from motion picture companies, the William Morris agency at Beverly Hills, Calif., announced last week.

Miss Cobey is the wife of Herbert T. Cobey of Galion. She is the former Phyllis Hornstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armin Hornstein, former Galion residents. Mr. and Mrs. Cobey are living in Guilford, Conn., with their two children.

The indications are for a direct, shrewd and sagacious move upon goals and objectives that may culminate in large, long-term and eagerly-desired plans and policies, with firm foundations for future security. Jobs, assets, possessions, new offers or agreements, should be decisively grasped, concentrating all efforts and abilities until the last word is solidly lodged "on the dotted line."

Those whose birthday it is, stand at the gateway of splendid opportunities for placing future progress, security and happiness on a lasting and comforting basis, forged by industry, application, sagacious and shrewd techniques and sturdy ways and means. New openings, positions, rewards for merit and dependability knock at the door with insistent force. Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

A lovesick young accountant had regaled his roommate for weeks with tales of the beauty, breeding, and brilliance of his latest conquest, Hyacinth.

Finally he produced her for dinner. The roommate had already marked her down to bargain basement proportions in his own mind when the accountant unwittingly provided the climax.

"Want to know what I'm giving Hyacinth for a birthday present?" he asked (Hyacinth was sitting on his lap at the time). "I've bought her a wonderful T-R-A-V-E-L-L-I-N-G case."

The roommate whispered, "S-sh, she can hear you!"

"She won't understand," said the lover confidently. "She spells 'travelling' with one 'L'."

The late Sam Harris once bought a play because he heard that excellent actor, Arnold Daly, reading it aloud to a group and found himself profoundly moved by it. It turned out to be one of the most dismal flops of his career. "This has been a great lesson to me," he said. "That's what I get for letting a $2,000-a-week actor read a drama to me and getting a $100-a-week actor to play it."

FINAL CORRECTION

ENDURANCE TESTS COMPLETED ENGINE FAILS—NOT THE OIL

New Sohio Motor Oil shows almost 10 times increase in Factor of Safety

We can now make final correction of a previous understatement in Sohio advertising.

Famous Engine "B" running on New Sohio Motor Oil with Pentosul has finally stopped. It shows a 974% increased Factor of Safety for New Sohio Motor Oil, over the good conventional oil used in Engine "A". This makes the 100% increase originally reported a substantial *under*statement.

New Sohio Motor Oil with Pentosul actually took the extreme punishment of the test longer than the engine itself could stand it. The engine's exhaust valves finally burned out. New Sohio Motor Oil was still in lubricating condition.

Facts Speak for Themselves

We are the first to admit that many Ohioans will find it hard to believe that an oil could show almost 10 times improvement in staying power over a good, conventional-type oil.

Yet the facts speak for themselves. This is no advertising "stunt". The research laboratory* making the test is an endowed, non-profit organization with world-wide prestige for its scientific integrity. The answer is simply that in Pentosul Sohio's oil research engineers, after 10 years of patient, painstaking work, have made one of the big advances in safe engine lubrication.

This was not a test of oil consumption, but of the stability and lubricating safety of the oil. The oil level was constantly maintained by the addition of fresh oil, as required, in both engines.

Two new 1946 automobile engines of a popular make—exactly alike in all respects—were mounted in the research laboratory. Each engine was given a "break-in" run and carefully inspected to make sure they were in exactly the same condition. Operating conditions were those established and adopted by the automotive and petroleum industries and by the U. S. Army for test work.

New Sohio Motor Oil with Pentosul continues to be Sohio's twenty-five cent motor oil. The price has not been increased.

To our knowledge this is the first time an important advertised product such as Sohio Motor Oil has been publicly subjected to test by an unquestioned research authority with the progress of the test and final results fully presented for customer judgment. These are the facts. You be the judge. We say—use Sohio Motor Oil, drain and change regularly; safer, surer engine protection is yours at 25¢ a quart (plus taxes.)

STOCK MARKET AGAIN ENJOYS EARLY BIDDING

Brokers Line Selective Rally to Stalin's Discount of War Fears.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The stock market today enjoyed another early selective rally which failed to attain real momentum or develop a follow through.

Brokers said that the Stalin interview which scouted talk of a new war may have brought in a little forenoon bidding.

Supported were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Union Carbide, Southern Railway and New York Central. Inclined to lag were American Telephone, American Can, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Norfolk & Western (despite a pleasing income summary) and Southern Pacific.

NBC fired a commentator because he criticized Rankin. We never heard of any network firing a newscaster because he criticized FDR or any other American president. Making a sacred cow out of a Trojan horse.

The White House is spreading Happiness to the Germans in Germany and to the Republicans in America.

Freeman Chum, Chinese sage, writes: "I received a terrific bank out of Italy getting all overwrought over the Russian slur to Italian fighting valor. I recall back in 1940 and 1941 (when Il Duce was the big spaghetti there and Virginio Gayda his cheese) the remarks passed about the fighting ability of the Americans. Particularly vivid are these by the Duce: 'Americans are no fighters. They are a race of playboys. They are better off in night clubs. Their army is a joke.' These and others of even less complimentary nature were received with great glee and mirth by the Duce's mobs."

Our foreign policy is about as clear as the mud diplomats have been throwing at each other.

Too many American leaders are arguing about our foreign policy when they should be explaining it.

After reporting that "Mr. Winchell is a shrewd cookie, with a superb journalistic sense of what can be made of what," colyumist Sam Grafton adds that Walter Lippmann's (anti) attitude toward Russia "is not very different from that of Mr. Winchell, which must be a surprise to both men; and in both lines there is a dedication to the doctrine of two worlds."

Our reports and broadcasts certify that this reporter continually upheld the ideal of One World. And we attacked those who are undermining that ideal. . . . But idealism and realism seldom go hand in hand. If One World is impossible to attain at the present time—it is worth striving for methods that can make two worlds live in peace. It is better to have two worlds trying to get along together than One Atomic World War.

Cocky G. B. Shaw once publicly deprecated himself. He informed a reporter: "In moments of crisis my nerves act in the most extraordinary way. I size up the situation in a flash, set my teeth, contract my muscles, take a firm grip on myself, and without a tremor, always do the wrong thing."

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Driving to the office, today, George Spelvin, American, picked an argument with Harry Gremlin, the stooge that he carries around with him to talk to so he won't conk off and climb through some other driver's windshield.

Mr. Gremlin is a sort of New Dealer but not exactly a New Dealer, either, but that is just the point because Mr. Spelvin, he tries to figure the guy out and sometime he will change sides in an argument but no matter what he says, Gremlin is always on the other side and two guys never hated each other more, but still Mr. Spelvin carries him around whenever he is alone in the car and sometimes Gremlin even moseys in while he is shaving the face.

He has an irritating presence and you would think Spelvin would ditch him and sometimes he says to himself what am I arguing with this louse for, anyway, getting all steamed up so why don't I think about hitting a long shot right on the snoot or something nice like answering right up that bukram is a rare mineral found only in Saskatchewan and it is used in making atom bombs and give the gentleman 63 silver dollars and what is your name, please, my name is George Spelvin, American, and my address is 1353 Maplecrest avenue, South and, boy, wait till my war department hears that her Galahad has hit the jackpot by telling the guy what bukram is, if that is what it is, or umbrage or tumeric, that sounds like a kind of a little jacket but, after all, with this inflation it isn't really $63 but more like $42 when you consider how prices have gone up on account of the strikes and the C.I.A.

At this point, Mr. Gremlin called Spelvin a reactionary and a dumb Fascist tool and said three per cent of the population controlled 92 per cent of the wealth and if he had any sense he would see that Henry Wallace wasn't any Communist but anyway, what difference does it make, if he keeps us out of a terrible war with Russia because did Spelvin ever stop to think that if we don't quiet their fears why just one of those pineapples in a suitcase in the checkroom at Grand Central and another in a jalloppy parked in the Bronx and four more planted around town could blow New York off the earth and you ring for the cops and firemen but you can't even ring because the phone system is gone, too, and anyway they are all dead and how are you going to ring, you dope, when you are dead yourself.

* * *

So, okay, if that is the case, Spelvin says, why don't we let them have it first and see if they can ring for fire engines any better but Gremlin says the best way is not for anybody to do it and Wallace just wants to be friends and only the Fascists want war and Spelvin answers back don't you call me a Fascist and anyway how come the Fascists want war and how do you know they do and who do you mean?

* * *

Mr. Gremlin says we got to have democracy like Wallace says and what do we care if Russia runs Poland and a lot of little places like Latvia when everybody knows they are always fighting and the majority of their people are pro-Russian, anyway, and these governments in exile are just a lot of quislings and Wall Street is putting up the money for their propaganda to get us in a war with atomic bombs.

Spelvin jumped a red light at Walnut, parked the job, turned off Mr. Gremlin and dash into the office just on time and all morning long he kept thinking if bukram was a mineral for atom bombs found only in Saskatchewan and the guy called on him to answer, he would stop at Goldfarb's on the way home and buy the old lady the best dam tumeric in the house with gold braid and buttons down the front.

Othman — On Anything

MR. BYRNES has had a resounding personal triumph in his encounter with Mr Wallace. The elementary principle that a government cannot have two contradictory spokesmen has been vindicated. The bipartisan coalition has been saved By the appointment of Mr. Harriman, Mr. Truman has repaired some of the damage. The conviction of the American people that Soviet expansion must be opposed resolutely has been made manifest

But much confusion remains, and there will have to be most patient and searching discussion before it can be cleared up. The real question is not whether Russian expansion should be opposed but how it can be opposed successfully.

This question has been obscured by the Wallace controversy. But the trend of events will compel us to consider it, and to ask ourselves whether having taken the decision to oppose the Soviet expansion. Mr. Byrnes has adopted a workable program for achieving his diplomatic ends.

AS EUROPEANS SEE IT, we are treating the continent as a diplomatic battlefield in a world-wide contest of power with the Soviet Union. Almost certainly the great majority of civilized Europeans prefer the United States to the Soviet Union. But we shall be misled if we think that they trust us confidently to lead them to peace or to prosperity.

They are not happy over the manner in which we have chosen to arrange matters so that on every issue they have to stand up in public, and be counted as for us or for the Russians. The three senators in Paris may think peace can be made as laws are enacted in the senate—by roll calls, showdowns, and votes. But this procedure is a catastrophe for Europe, in that it compels the nations to take sides against one another, and drives deep wedges of division into their internal affairs.

All this, I know, is being done in the sacred name of open diplomacy. But it is the ruin of diplomacy, which cannot be conducted except into trouble on the false assumption that a society of sovereign states can be governed as if it were a parliamentary democracy of individual persons. Men cannot play chess successfully if they are under the impression that they are playing checkers.

IF THIS HORRIBLE procedure is to be applied to Germany and ultimately to Japan, heaven help us. We shall set up an area in which the victors contend for the favor of the vanquished, and instead of settling the German problem, we shall surely and inevitably revive it.

These things cannot be said by Europeans, or at least they cannot be said explicitly. But that there is a European reaction against the treatment of Europe as the stake in a Soviet-American conflict is plain enough to those who will read the signs of the times.

6 INJURED IN AREA TRAFFIC DURING RAIN

State Highway Worker Hurt When Struck By Car on Route 39.

Six persons, including a state highway department worker, were injured yesterday and last night in a series of traffic accidents in the Richland area, police and state highway patrolmen reported. Most of the accidents were blamed on the wet paving.

Charles D. Flynn, 46, Shelby, state highway employe, suffered a fractured leg and contusions of the head yesterday when he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Bertha F. Searle, 75, of Plymouth, mother of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, III.

State patrolmen said Flynn was flagging traffic on State Route 39 near Springmill where workmen were unloading slag along the highway. Mrs. Searle said she was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident, due to the slippery paving. Flynn's condition was reported good today at General hospital.

Injured in other accidents were Eugene Schmidt, 16, of 297 Myers avenue; injuries to his right ankle; Mrs. Gertrude Yarger, Mansfield, R. D. 5, neck and back injuries; Peter J. Remy, 77, of 45 Augustine avenue, bruises of the knees and hand lacerations; Miss Ida Alice Balliett, 39, Lucas, minor bruises, and Sam O'Brien, 42, of 270 North Main street.

Schmidt was injured, police said, when he ran through the intersection of East Third and Dorian streets yesterday and his bicycle collided with a car driven by Ada Mae Miller, 243 Park drive. He was treated at General hospital and released.

Mrs. Yarger was injured during yesterday's heavy downpour when, due to the wet pavement, a large truck was unable to stop and crashed into the rear of the car in which she was riding on Park avenue west near Mulberry street, police said.

2 Cars Collide.

Remy and Miss Balliett were injured in another two-car collision blamed on wet streets.

The accident occurred when Miss Balliett's car headed toward Mansfield, struck Remy's car, one and a half miles southeast of the city on the South Diamond street road, it was reported.

Remy was treated at General hospital and released while no treatment was required for Miss Balliett.

O'Brien was struck when he stepped in front of a car at Sixth and Main streets at 9:45 p. m. yesterday, officers said.

MINERS' PAPER HITS CONTROLS

Editor Calls For Political Retirement of Wallace.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The United Mine Workers (AFL) Journal today called for an end of all government controls over the economy and for permanent retirement from political life of Henry A. Wallace, former commerce secretary.

The journal blamed President Truman's 'support 'of wage and price controls for continuing "to muddle labor relations throughout the nation." It said the meat shortage, which is threatening to close coal mines and steel mills, is the result of "buck-passing . . . among Washington burrocrats."

Journal Editor K. C. Adams called this pre-convention issue his "anti-burrocratic edition." The UMW will meet next week in Atlantic City to formulate a policy "to free American workmen from burrocratic, political control."

WHEELING, W. Va. — (U.P.) — Adolph Pacifico, president of United Mine Workers District six, predicted today that all the larger coal mines in this area would be closed by the week's end if the meat shortage continued.

On the day designated, city trucks will be stationed at the school from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m. All paper must be loaded on the truck between these hours, by order of Fire Chief L. J. Steele.

COURTS SLAP 2 MOLESTERS

Joseph Schmidt Sentenced; Young Trial Upheld.

The fifth district court of appeals yesterday affirmed a Richland county juvenile court's conviction of Ernest Young, 43, on three counts of molesting little girls and Juvenile Judge S. H. Cramer assessed the maximum penalty against another sex offender in his own court.

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a six-year-old girl, Joseph Schmidt, 44, of 254 Marion avenue, pleaded guilty in juvenile court and was fined $1,000 and sentenced to the Columbus workhouse for one year.

The court of appeals upheld the conviction last spring of Young, who lives on Seventh avenue. Young was accused of taking indecent liberties with three small girls, 7, 8, and 10 years of age.

In the appeals court's opinion, written by Judge Charles W. Montgomery of Newark and concurred in by the two other judges, it was said: "We have read the record presented in this case. We did this thoroughly in spite of the fact that reading it brought to us a feeling of nausea, a loathing."

Young had appealed to the higher court after a jury of four women and eight men found him guilty on all three of the counts last May.

ROYAL 'THANK YOU'—

Earl R. Sheriff, 30 West Augustine avenue, formerly a sergeant in the Eighth Infantry division, received a letter from a woman yesterday. But it was the kind of letter that made his wife proud, not angry. The "letter" was an official document from Her Royal Highness, the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg, Grand Duchess of Nassau, which announced that Sheriff had been awarded the Croix de Guerre "for exceptional service in the interest of the interest of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg." The letter also contained the medal itself and was forwarded to Sheriff by the war department. Sheriff, who is employed by the Ohio Brass company, also holds the Purple Heart and the Silver Star for gallantry. Sheriff fought throughout the French and German campaigns, and was wounded twice.

THAT'S SETTLED—

William Clauss, 208 Sturges avenue, has finally stopped all arguments concerning which way his new, streamlined car is going. Clauss bought one of those sleek new models. Friends, however kidded him about the car's streamlining. They said it was hard to tell in which direction the auto was traveling. So Clauss settled the matter by putting stickers on each end of the car. One says "front," the other rear."

LA FOLLETTE AND JACKSON ALSO GUESSES

Selection of Justice Seen as Calming Troubles in Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON — (INS)— President Truman today was shopping for an ambassador to the court of St. James' to replace W. Averell Harriman, the newly-appointed secretary of commerce.

The following were all reported in Washington speculation as being possible contenders for the job.

1. Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, prosecutor for the United States of Nazi war criminals at the Nuernberg trials. Jackson's appointment, observers noted, would relieve an embarrassing position since Jackson has headed the opposition to Justice Hugo L. Black on the high tribunal in an open outbreak of personality differences.

2. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late president. She is highly regarded as a great admirer of the British war effort while being an understanding sympathizer of Russia.

3. Edward R. Stettinius, jr., former secretary of state and now rector of the University of Michigan. Stettinius is highly admired by the British.

4. Sen. Robert La Follette, Progressive senator from Wisconsin.

5. Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden in charge of Latin-American affairs.

6. John G. Winant, United States delegate to the United Nations social and economic council. Winant served as ambassador to London during the war years and was highly regarded there.

7. Gen. Mark Clark, one of the few general officers with a moderate independent income. Clark would fit into the picture only if the administration decides to pursue a policy of sending top ranking military men to diplomatic posts.

VETS' REQUESTS GET ATTENTION.

Area CPA Tries to Speed Their Building Applications.

Applications from World War II veterans in the Mansfield area for authority to begin non-housing construction will receive special treatment by the Civilian Production administration in Cleveland, it was announced today by George A. Moore, CPA regional director.

The construction, however, must be in connection with small commercial or industrial projects of which the veterans will be principal owners, Moore said.

"Unusually meritorious" applications from veterans for buildings projects costing not more than $10,000 and of "reasonable essentiality" to the community, will be favorably reviewed by district managers, Moore said, in the following circumstances:

(1) Where the applicant is a veteran or a group of veterans of World War II or a partnership or corporation owned not less than 75 per cent by veterans of World War II, (2) where the applicant will own the proposed facility, (3) where the applicant will be the sole occupant when the project is completed, and (4) where the veteran will devote all or substantially all of his time to the business conducted in the facility.

"This policy is intended to provide the means for district construction managers to give approval to applications received from veterans of World War II in particularly meritorious cases. It is not intended to call for approval of all applications of $10,000 or under, filed by veterans," Moore emphasized.

Icelanders Strike Against U. S. Plan

REYKJAVIK, Iceland — (U.P.) — Protests against a proposed agreement between Iceland and the United States for American use of the Keflavik airport led today to a 24-hour general strike and mob attempts against the premier and the Reykjavik mayor.

Under the proposed agreement, the United States would withdraw its small army and navy force remaining in Iceland, but would reserve the right to use the American-built Keflavik field as a transit point for planes going to and from Germany. The field would be maintained by American civilian personnel.

(The U. S. Navy announced it began withdrawing its forces from Iceland Monday.)

A rapid tour of inspection of their quarters conducted by Mrs. Cabral showed that the Cabrals will have a kitchen, equipped with an electric range and water heater, a living room, bath, and two bedrooms.

"Here comes the second load!" Mrs. Cabral cried, dropping a broom.

Outside was a moving van, filled with household goods. Riding with the driver was Samuel, her son, dressed in tiny army coveralls, overseas cap, and with one chevron on his arm.

"I can't find my shoes!" Sam wailed. But before his mother could reassure him on this important matter his eyes had found nearby Charles Mill lake.

Lake Takes His Eye.

"Gee," he said, "look at the lake." His face held that expectant look that all small boys get just before they rig up a pole and bait a hook. His shoes were forgotten.

Cabral, a Pfc in the medical corps, served in the army four years, with 13 months service overseas. He was through the African, Sicily, and Italian campaigns. He is now employed at Shelby depot in the office appliance department.

According to Mrs. Cabral, her husband will not mind the daily drive to Shelby.

"After all a man's home is his castle," she said. "And according to him a man who lives in a castle would think nothing of a short jaunt like that."

As another "first" at Vetsville today, Charles B. Lawrence, jr., director, region seven, FPHA, announced that title to the first of the 75 temporary family units at Vetsville is being turned over by the Federal Public Housing Authority to McVey Post, American Legion.

POWER STRIKE CRIPPLES CITY

Pittsburgh Industrial Plants Paralyzed By Walkout.

Hotels and office buildings curtailed services.

At the William Penn hotel lights, except those in the corridors and a few in the lobby, were turned out. Detectives guarded all entrances.

The hotel has its own power system, but it was taking precautions to conserve the electric supply.

Rooms Darkened.

Most of the guests, including the hundreds here for a Masonic convention, flocked to the dimly-lit lobby because their room lights were turned out.

In some shops employes worked by light of oil lanterns.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corp. was among the first industrial plants affected. The Jones & Laughlin Steel corp., was not affected. Its plants have their own power systems.

Plants with their own power equipment, however, faced possible suspension because of the inability to obtain sufficient transportation.

Schools Operate.

Telephone service was normal, and schools continued to operate.

The strike was called by an independent union to enforce a demand for a 20 per cent wage increase among other things. The union is the Independent Association of Employes of the Duquesne Light Co., and associated companies.

The strike was called at the hour set for a hearing by three judges in common pleas court on a petition by the City of Pittsburgh to make permanent an injunction forbidding the strike.

A milling throng of 1,000 people—including laughing, cheering Duquesne Light employes and crowds of curious onlookers—jammed the inside and outside of the city-county building awaiting the outcome of the injunction showdown.

Sheriff Walter C. Monaghan had 60 deputies in and around the company.

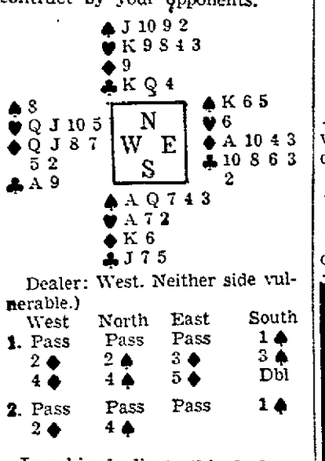
Barclay On Bridge

Jumping your partner's original suit bid to game at your first opportunity is winning bridge when holding a hand which is at the same time both strong and weak. That is, strong in support of the trump suit because of great distributional values, and weak on defense against a suit contract by your opponents.



Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1. Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♦	3 ♠
4 ♦	4 ♠	5 ♦	Dbl
2. Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♦	4 ♠

In a big duplicate this deal was bid at one of those two ways at every table. Where North bid only 2-Spades over West's 2-Diamonds, the defendants reached a sacrifice of 5-Diamonds and went down only two tricks, losing one in each suit. That gave North-South only 300 points, a niggardly amount to accept in place of the game dealt to them.

North had a perfect hand for a jump all the way to game as soon as he heard South bid spades. It was a very slight overbid, in case South held a minimum, but sound strategy since his own hand was so indifferent on defense against any other suit, especially against the diamonds, which West had bid. That 4-Spades call raised too high a barrier for every East in the game—as there were none of those present who refuse to be shut out by such calls.

The spade game was of course made, with loss of just one trick in each side suit.

WANT TO BUY GLIDERS, TOOLS

Vets Prefer Them in Asking For Surplus Priorities.

Mansfield area veterans want to buy gliders, farm machinery and hand tools, war assets administration representatives found today in interviews with 36 men at the Veterans' Information office.

The 36 area veterans showed up during the first three hours the WAA representatives were in Mansfield to set up purchase priorities for surplus materials.

The WAA representatives, T. E. Andree and Donald G. Quick, said veterans want the large gliders to dismantle for the lumber in them.

Many of the men interviewed were trying to get surplus materials to use in improving their homes, such as building garages, or fixing the place up, it was said.

D. W. Miller, Mansfield dentist, was hoping to get priority on some scarce dental equipment for his office.

Richard Bowman, Perrysville, was looking for big things—cranes, excavating machines, and the like. He explained it by saying that Dad and I had planned to go into the engineering game before I was drafted. Now we're really going to work, if I can get the stuff."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1946

It's not the "know-how" that is lacking in American industry—it's the absence of "want-to" that is holding things up.

John L. Lewis loudly proclaims that coal miners must have more meat—overlooking the period in which many people were calling for more coal.

Unheard remark: "I'm surprised at how badly things are going in Washington, considering how well qualified President Truman is for the job."

Court Decision Penalizes Efficiency

FINAL OUTCOME of a case in which a decision has just been handed down by a federal judge in Danville, Ill., will be awaited with interest—and concern—as it involves a point that directly affects retail business procedure that has become accepted throughout the United States.

The case is that of the government against the A & P chain of food stores, which is charged with "conspiring to control a substantial part of the country's food business."

The trial judge holds that the system under which A & P operates is in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and a startling phase of the matter is revelation that this is the first of 105 cases to be tried by the government in the food industry alone.

Defendants, of course, plan an immediate appeal, and contend that this decision "has, in effect, knocked the props out from under the entire American business system; for the pattern of our operations is so usual that no sizable business in America can now hope to defend itself against attacks of the anti-trust division."

Experience, through a number of years, has shown that there is a proper field for both the merchandising chains and independent merchants, and the expansion of single stores into multiple units—to increase buying volume and thus reduce retail prices—has been recognized as a part of America's "free enterprise" system which encourages initiative and efficiency.

Such a decision as that which has come out of Danville, Ill., challenges the entire free enterprise system, and, followed to logical conclusion, would mean that even the owner of a small store would be subject to federal prosecution if he found a way to reduce prices to consumers. And one interpretation is that it could be applied equally to consumer co-operatives.

Junior C. of C. Urges Registration

THE Junior Chamber of Commerce is to be highly commended for its drive to get voters to register for the November election. The warning is not only well timed—that citizens will abridge their voting rights if they are not registered—but it is clearly presented.

If you have moved to a different ward or precinct since the last election, you must transfer your registration.

If you are new in the city, if you have just reached voting age, or if you have not voted in the last two general elections—then you must register.

And it is important, especially for veterans, to note that absentee voting does not count so far as registration is concerned.

This newspaper has urged at every election that citizens get out and vote—"Vote as you please, but vote." The News-Journal has also made an effort to extend co-operation to election board officials in promoting early and complete registration. It is happy to join with the Junior Chamber in promoting the same cause this year.

In the last analysis, however, it is up to the residents of Mansfield and Madison township to make sure they are registered. Nobody can register for you. Make sure you do it before Oct. 7. The place: board of elections office, courthouse basement. The time: daily, 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. except Saturday and Sunday; Saturday, 8 a. m. to noon.

Mail Brings a Peculiar Proposal

USE OF the mails for fund-collecting presupposes legitimacy of the purpose for which solicited money is to be used, and again a postal card of questionable character is passing through the mail under Mansfield postmark.

The postal card message deals with the subject of "doing away with the OPA" and makes the confident claim: "Strange as it may be, there are but two men today who do know how to override OPA, namely Tom Watson, attorney general of Florida, and myself. Naturally to override OPA through a court action in the U. S. district court of appeals will require that funds be raised by those who want to override OPA. If interested in overriding OPA, write—". And then a Mansfield address is given, assuming to represent an "Institute of World Peace."

If this is a bona fide organization, authorized to solicit funds for the purpose stated, well and good. If not, its promoter—or promoters—should be barred from use of the mails to make such representations.

The 'Unusual' Makes News

A THOUGHT-PROVOKING item culled from the American Legion news service tells about a Legion post in Chicago in which the membership of 220 is composed entirely of "drys" and non-smokers.

The fact that this is deemed worthy of mention gives recognition to its oddity, and the information is passed along without comment—except to say that it reveals a quite generally recognized preference of many people to choose congenial associates of like thought and similar habits.

It is Aaron post, 788, to which attention is directed, and the commander deems it fitting to include the information that this is not a "church" post, and that twenty religious denominations are represented in the membership.

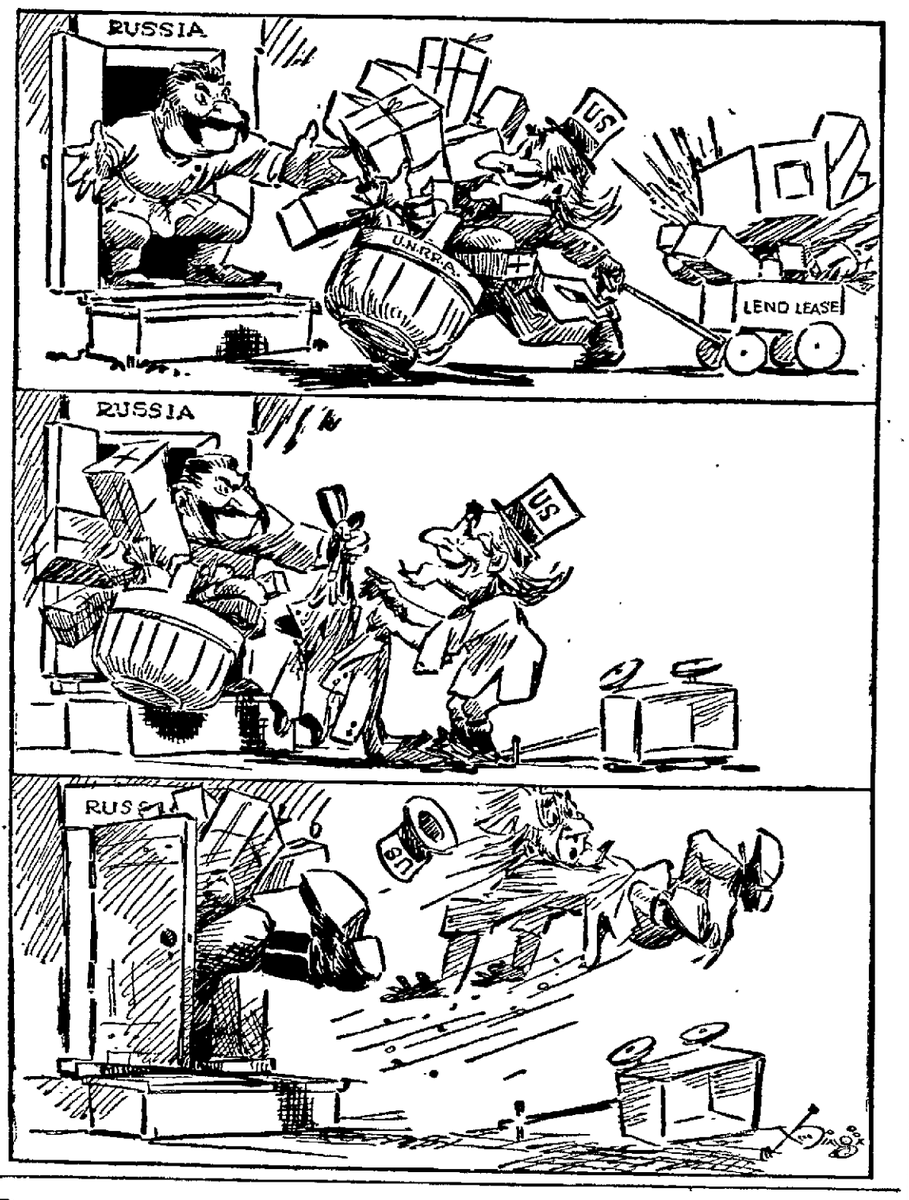
Explaining the Conference Delay

BRIGHTEST of the quips to come out of Washington is the one having to do with a delayed press conference, during the Truman-Wallace imbroglio. One waggish reporter explained the delay by saying: "The conference will begin at any moment, gentlemen. They're having a bit of trouble getting the president's foot in his mouth."

Not only did last week's fight with Joe Louis remove Tami Mauriello as a heavyweight contender but it showed his vocabulary to be such as to deprive him of future radio appearances.

Claude Callan suggests: "Strive to live on your income. It can't be done, but you gain strength by striving."

WHO'S GETTING TOUGH WITH WHOM?



Congress, Not the Maligned OPA Cause of Present Price Increases

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Almost every morning housewives wake up to complain about a new price increase authorized by Paul Porter and OP. It has been one long, monotonous series of boosts in the cost of living.

What most people don't understand, however, is that Porter and and OPA. It has been one long, matter.

The price boosts are required by law—by the new polygot OPA act lobbied through congress last summer.

If he wanted to play politics, Porter could easily couple with each announcement of a price increase a statement as to what senator was responsible for costing housewives all the extra money.

If he did, the public would get a graphic picture of how, when different lobbies throughout the USA all start grabbing theirs, very little is left for the poor public.

Here is the rollcall of congressmen who forced up prices and the estimate of how much each is costing the American people:

Calling the OPA Roll.

Amendment by Senator Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska Republican—Prohibits OPA from requiring cost absorption by wholesalers and retailers after March 31, 1946. This adds $350,000,000 to the housewives' budget.

Amendment by Rep. Fred Crawford, Michigan Republican—Prohibits cost absorption for automobile dealers. Cost to public—$425,000,000.

Amendment by Rep. John Flannagan, Virginia Democrat—Supported by Rep. Jesse Wolcott and Senator Taft, Michigan and Ohio Republicans, cutting food subsidies in half. This will cost consumers the huge total of $1,500,000,000 on their food bill. (Flannagan bows to the farm lobby.)

Amendment by Senator Abe Murdock, Utah Democrat (he listens to the beet sugar lobby)—Forbids the Commodity Credit Corporation from absorbing an increase in the price paid for Cuban sugar over 3.675 cents per pound. This adds two cents per pound to consumers' sugar bill — total: $200,000,000.

Amendment by Rep. Frank Sundstrum, New Jersey Republican (he is close to the manufacturers' lobby) — Prohibits OPA from using its maximum average price regulation. Thus OPA was powerless to insist that manufacturers continue to turn out low-cost clothing at low cost, with the nation-wide consumer clothing bill raised by at least 10 per cent, or $1,200,000,000.

Cotton Lobby Operates.

Amendment by the late Senator John Bankhead, later pushed by Representatives Paul Brown of Georgia (on cotton) and Sundstrom (on wool) — Forcing consumer absorption of price increases in the cotton and wool market. The price increase, at mill level alone, is already above $600,000,000.

Amendment introduced by Senator Ernest McFarland, Arizona Democrat — Decontrolling dairy products. Cost to consumer—$1,250,000,000.

Amendment to McFarland amendment proposed by Senator George Radcliffe, lame-duck Maryland Democrat and spokesman for the poultry lobby—Decontrols poultry. Cost to consumer is dependent upon future action of poultry market and whether or not poultry is recontrolled. At present price levels, annual cost to consumer is about $150,000,000 above price increases which would otherwise have been granted by OPA.

Amendment decontrolling petroleum, sponsored by oil king Senator Ed Moore, Oklahoma Republican; supported by Senators Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat, Lee O'Daniel, Texas Democrat, and other oil state congressmen. Annual cost to consumers—about $750,000,000.

Amendment prohibiting cost absorption at dealer level on farm machinery by Senator J. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat. This results in increased costs to farmers of $60,000,000.

No reliable estimates are yet available on other amendments, such as that by Senator Clyde Hoey, North Carolina Democrat, decontrolling tobacco, or that originally proposed by Senator Wherry, decontrolling meat.

Cost to the nation of the watered-down version of Senator Taft's assured-profit amendment also cannot yet be estimated. No price increases under this amendment, assuring all businessmen of percentage profits as great as in the early war years, have yet been granted by OPA because of the heavy paper work involved.

Note—Many businessmen have already decided not to apply for these increases because they are unwilling to produce their books for OPA inspection.

Paul Porter's Slogan.

When you are boss of anything as unpopular as the OPA, you need a sense of humor. Fortunately, tall, gangling Kentucky-raised Paul Porter has one.

Some time ago he was attending a dinner given by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson in honor of Herbert Morrison, a leader of the British Labor government. During the dinner, Morrison turned to John Snyder and said:

"I've come over here to find out how the American Government operates. Won't you be good enough to tell me about the duties of your department?"

Snyder obliged with a dry and factual resume of his duties. Then Morrison asked the same question of Paul Porter.

"Well you see, over here, Mr. Minister," replied the OPA boss, "we operate the government on slogans. Mine goes back to the war of 1812.

"You wouldn't remember much about that, but our hero in that war was old Hickory Jackson; and in the battle of New Orleans when the redcoats were battering away at our cotton bales, Jackson ordered his men:

"'Elevate them guns a little lower.'

"That's my slogan and my job, Mr. Minister," concluded Porter.

"I elevate them prices a little lower."

Merry-Go-Round.

Chester Bowles' defeat for nomination as Governor of Connecticut was largely due to Senator Brien McMahon's lukewarm support. McMahon voted for Bowles, but wouldn't go out and beat the bushes for votes. Result: The Democrats are sure to lose Connecticut in November . . . Secretary of War Patterson spends two hours a week attending lectures on atomic energy—along with other War Department officers. . . . It is strongly suspected that there is a little politics in the beef shortage. The big cattle ranchers, the midwest feedlot fatteners and the meat packers aer staunch Republicans, and if meat doesn't go to market for the next few weeks, the psychological effect on the November elections will be important—perhaps decisive.

No Relief Sighted In Housing Shortage

(Editor's Note: Kenneth L. Dixon has just completed a seven-month, 15,000-mile tour of America. Following is one of a series of articles based on his conclusions after talking to thousands of people in more than 40 states.)

WASHINGTON — In a recent interview, Wilson W. Wyatt, the national housing expediter, was quoted as saying he could see some signs of cheer ahead in the country's home-shortage crisis.

That is good news—but it would be just as foolish to wax over-optimistic about it as it once was to wax triumphantly exuberant over a small combat line advance when there still was a big war to be won!

And this correspondent, for one, cannot help but wonder sometimes if there are a hundred people in the country who realize the full extent of the housing shortage.

So, at the risk of being a wet blanket, here are a few notes from across the country:

In 15,000 miles and 40 states, there was not one single city, town or village visited which did not have a housing crisis.

Furthermore, each one was considered so serious locally that nine out of ten times civic leaders insisted their situation was one of the worst, if not the worst, in the country.

Effects of the crisis go far beyond merely the physical phases involved in a shortage of shelter—reaching into the records of juvenile delinquency, adult crime, divorce, veterans' readjustment and education.

All across the South, Southwest and West coast, trailer towns were springing up by the score. Georgia was one specific state which spearheaded the movement, in most cases turning the trailer settlements over to colleges and universities for the housing of veterans and their families. But other states were swift to follow suit.

Still, in spite of doubling-up by the hundreds of thousands, the nation's fall school term is opening with more than half a million would-be student vets unable to attend because of lack of housing.

Communities were fighting frantically to ease the situation. Hereford, Texas, and Carlsbad, N. M., were seeking to use the former prisoner of war camp buildings. Farther west, quonset huts were going up by the hundreds in civic projects.

Terming the situation worse than it was a year ago, the Kansas City Star foresaw little cheer in the immediate future. Meanwhile, city parks were turned over for the construction of barracks-like emergency buildings for vets and their families.

Kansas City was one of the places where everyone was convinced theirs was the worst of all housing shortages. But it wasn't. It was bad, but not the worst.

On eastward, smaller cities such as Macomb, Ill., were trying to use the buildings from abandoned army camps nearby, but the process was slow and complicated.

Meanwhile, shanties, tin-roofed shacks and trailers dotted the area, and disappointed kids turned their faces away from college campuses.

In Denver, Colo., more than 1,000 families were doubling up with friends, relatives and acquaintances, and half the city's existing housing needed major or minor repair. In Sedalia, Mo., Jack Taylor of the "Missouri Farmer" said that even in the smallest cities of the show-me state the situation was acute.

In Memphis, Tenn., salesmen said the only way they could transfer to an office in another city was to find someone there transferring to Memphis and swap houses.

And all the way—Richmond, Atlanta, New Orleans, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Albuquerque, San Francisco, Chicago and so on—educators and law-enforcement officials named the housing crisis as a major contributing factor to the growing crime wave, and judges called it the cause of countless divorces.

Thus, even the least scrap of good news is cheering—but Mr. Wyatt's work has barely begun!

Timely Editorial

Lower Air Mail Rates.

Lowering of air-mail letter rates from 8 cents to 5 cents effective Oct. 1 is a welcome and proper change which promises to benefit everyone involved.

The old rate was too high considering that air transport is no longer premium transport. Passenger fares compare very favorably with railroad tariffs. Moreover with air travel becoming more common, numerous lines expanding and increasing their service the increased volume to be expected from the cut will not be burdensome to the carriers who should and doubtless will welcome it as an added source of revenue.

Air mail saves little over short distances, but letters going across the continent arrive several days sooner than by ground routes. This fact alone is sufficient reason for the government to make air mail as widely used and economical as possible for the general public.—Columbus Dispatch.

ODD FACT

Flowers are much like human beings; they catch cold from drafts, are stupefied by chloroform, and become intoxicated with alcohol.

Marquis Childs

Paying Penalty for Lack of Sound Planning.

WASHINGTON—The pessimist shakes his head gloomily and says that human beings never learn from experience. We seem to have been working overtime during the past year to prove the pessimist right.

After World War II, a brief boom carried spiralling prices above today's price levels. The collapse that followed brought tragic consequences for everyone, but particularly for agriculture, which never really recovered after the bubble of the speculative boom blew up. Then came the fleeting six years of the Republican bull market, which ended in the most widespread economic ruin this country has ever known.

Many people try to make the word "planning" into a scare word, tied to regimentation and the loss of our most cherished freedoms.

If we had done a little more planning at the beginning of World War II and a little more when it ended, we might have avoided the economic snarl in which we now find ourselves.

Planning was sacrificed to political pressures when the Roosevelt administration made no real effort to hold down wartime wages and profits. It was sacrificed when the Republican-Southern-Democratic coalition in congress destroyed any hope of effective price control.

We have only to look around us now every day to see the consequences of our failure. We ought to look and look hard. If we look, perhaps we can learn.

It is not alone the obvious and more alarming consequences. They hardly need to be pointed out. For example, in our competition with Soviet Russia, to convince the world that our system is the best, it is hardly an advantage to produce an economic tangle that sets all the elements of our society warring, one with another. That tends to prove the Soviets' smug belief that capitalism is finished and will inevitably break down.

The ominous strikes that develop as prices and wages see-saw upward need no underscoring. The labor conflict owes something to left-wing political aims. But the price dislocation is in itself almost enough to explain the present warfare and the battles that are likely to come.

In far less obvious ways, the dynamite of the inflationary-deflationary cycle works to undermine order and progress.

Take the business of education. Every college in the country is filling up to the doors and overflowing with students, many of them mature men and women eager to gain something real from their education.

Yet, at the same time, every college is having a desperate time finding enough instructors. Young men with families can hardly afford to remain in teaching, because the salary scale is so low.

Others who might accept modest fellowships or research stipends are driven to seek paying jobs. Thus the very serious damage done to education and science because of the stupid policy of selective service during the war will not be repaired.

It is in the reconversion of 12,000,000 veterans that the economic snarl works in a thousand ways to do harm. The growing quarrel over abuses in the on-the-job training program originates largely in the price rise which has wiped out much of the benefit congress intended to confer in the GI Bill of Rights.

When conflicts and tensions harden in such a way that it appears impossible to solve them under our system, then belief in democracy is undermined. Only through reasonable, moderate planning, looking toward the solution of our most vexatious problems, will be able to keep the liberties we prize.

Too Soon To Consider UN a Failure.

THE INTERNATIONAL committee for the study of European problems—a privately formed organization made up of prominent statesmen, diplomats, educators and scientists of six European countries—has thrown a decidedly wet blanket on our hopes of achieving peace and unity through the united nations.

This committee predicts failure for the UN in avoiding war and advocates the formation of a World Federation of Nations—a world state—for preserving peace. Such a federation, the advocates admit, would entail "important surrenders of national sovereignty."

One doesn't question lightly the views of such personages as Lord Beveridge, liberal British economist; British physicist M. L. Oliphant; Robert Gillon, president of the Belgian senate; Eduard Herriot, former French premier, and Beelaerts Van Bloekland, Dutch minister of state.

Still, it does seem that they dismiss our brand-new peace organization without sufficient trial.

The consensus of observers has been that the UN was an essential stepping-stone to Utopia—that we couldn't achieve the ideal of "one world" in a single hop. Still, maybe we haven't been thinking big enough.

Perhaps there's a lesson for us in the expansiveness of Bob Burns, the comedian, who has applied to the Washington authorities for a "moonstead." Bob wants homestead privileges on the moon. And when you stop to think about it, it's clear that he never will get a "moonstead" unless he goes after it.

It is true that things haven't gone well with the UN, but it is equally true that few, if anyone, expected a love-feast at the outset.

The peace organization is being confronted with controversial international issues sufficient to produce a dozen wars. One of the grave difficulties is that of avoiding serious trespass on national sovereignties. If this is true of the UN, how much greater would be the problem in a world-state which necessarily would call for surrender of a large measure of sovereignty.

Then, to, the realignment of power in the eastern hemisphere is producing a flood of distrust and suspicion—and small wonder. The Big Three no longer are a unit as in the parlous days of war. There are grave differences between Russia and the Western Allies. Those differences have been showing up in a big way in the UN and in the Paris peace conference.

However, it's a good sight better to have them fought out in the conference room than on the battle-field. It's the business of both the UN and the peace conference to settle arguments. That's what they were created for, and so the appearance of arguments should cause no surprise.

It strikes me that there's no sound reason for believing that the UN has exhausted all its possibilities.

He certainly would be a foolish optimist who didn't see the dangers of further armed conflict. But there are no indications that war is inevitable. It can be avoided if the distruct is dissipated—assuming, of course, that no nation harbors Hitlerian ideas of world conquest.

RIDING THE WIND

EARLY this morning I looked eastward across a plowed field when the sun was just above the hilltop. The sun reflected on gray waves that shimmered like the surface of a stream. As the morning breeze came up, the waves became much more distinct. I never saw that wavy line of gray quite so prominent before. I got out of my car and crossed the fence.

A few steps inside that fallowed field and my feet and ankles grew moist with dew that clung to myriad threads of spider web. Looking closely, it seemed that every clod or protruding stubble had a streamer or two attached. These single threads swung northward, parallel, as the fragrant south wind blew stronger.

About my feet, I observed these threads could not be for capturing and holding insects, but as the dew went off each thread grew lighter and the free ends rose higher than their moorings, as if impatient to be off. Each thread had a small spider somewhere attached.

I watched a spiderling spin a slender thread in addition to the one she already had waving in the wind. She held the ends of both to a broken piece of weed buried in the earth. Presently a stronger air current came along and the young spider freed the tethered end and I saw the strange ballooning device carry its passenger slowly upward toward the northern hills.

Young balloonist spiders ride the fickle winds at this time of year, along with thistle down, dandelion fluff, wild cotton seeds, and lettuce down. Navigators of man-made balloons in autumn have found them out in mid-ocean. Mountain climbers have discovered them in low stunted bushes above the timber line.

On fence post or tall stalk of grass, protruding leaf or weed, a young spider instinctively crawls and there, in a matter of seconds, begins to spin its web. When the strands are long enough and the wind is right, it takes off grandly. The food question seems to be of little importance. A young spider was caged and forgotten for six months—when found its activities seemed not at all impaired by its long fast.
